Dear Debbie:

This will confirm our telephone conversation of yesterday regarding the scheduled inspection of Delta Ironworks on March 9, 1981, in Houma, Louisiana.

Delta Ironworks, as such, went out of active existence on September 5, 1969, when it was acquired by Chromalloy American Corporation. Since that time, Chromalloy has disposed of most of those operations and real estate. The largest portion was sold to Delta Services Industries, of Houma, Louisiana, on September 15, 1980. The appropriate contacts at Delta Services are Ralph Arceneaux, Chris Olivier, and Leon Touns.

The only operations which Chromalloy has retained from the old Delta Ironworks are Delta Mud and Gemoco. I will prepare and forward to you next week a survey map indicating those properties still owned by Chromalloy and operated by the Delta Mud and Gemoco Divisions.

Please call me the week before the inspection so that we might make final arrangements.

Sincerely,

Rosanna Lapinski
